

Solar Energy Network Application

This diagram is representational only and depicts a typical solar energy network application. The diagram encompasses Ethernet, RS-232, and WiFi connectivity to provide an end to end solar energy networking solution.